

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FASHION REVUE JUDGING

Please read carefully the information below and bring these instructions with you the day of judging. If you have questions, please do not hesitate to ask anyone wearing a nametag.

Contestant Number

Each contestant will receive a contestant number when checking in for judging. Please place it on your left side, just below your fingertips. This number is to be worn during the judging and practice in the morning, but does not need to be worn during the public revue. However, you are asked to bring it with you to the public revue to help with line-up. PLEASE DO NOT MISPLACE YOUR NUMBER. This is the only one we have for you.

Instructions for Judging

Dressing Rooms: Please plan to be dressed and ready 15-20 minutes before your scheduled time. There will be one room for boys, and one room for girls. We may also be able to use rooms 147 and 148 for curling hair and applying make-up. These rooms are theatrical dressing rooms. They are fairly small, but have several mirrors and electrical outlets in them.

Line-up for Judging

After you are dressed, go directly to your assigned judging room and check-in with the person at the door. Please be sure to line-up in the judging order listed, not in numerical order.

Judging

You and your group will go into the judge's room together. You will individually model your outfit and briefly consult with the judge. After the group is finished being judged, you will all go directly to Room 114, the Recital Hall, and wait to be called to Recital Hall Stage to practice for the Public Revue. Everyone MUST practice.

Call Backs

As contestants leave the judging room, call backs will be handed a "call back" card. If you are not a call back, you may leave the building after you are finished practicing for the Public Revue. If you are a call back, you will need to return to your judging room after all the groups have been judged. Approximate times for judging call backs are as follows:

Intermediate Sewing & Textile Design – 11:00 am

Senior Sewing & Textile Design- 11:30 am
